Q. Is Royal Holloway quiet at weekends?

- As in normal life, there is a contrast between 'hectic' weekdays and 'quieter' weekends, but this is not particular to Royal Holloway;
- At weekends, students undertake private study, travel, participate in sports, go to events in the surrounding area, social events organised through the Students' Union, student parties and go into central London;
- However, the idea of a "quiet" campus is something of a myth as there is always a lot going on!

Q. What about health services?

- There is a health centre located in the Founders Building where there is a doctor surgery from Monday to Friday.

Q. What support is there for disabled students?

- Royal Holloway warmly welcomes disabled students and is committed to providing professional quality services and support;
- The Educational Support Office (ESO) is the central office which coordinates the support for students with additional learning needs at Royal Holloway.

Q. What is your relationship with the University of London?

- The University of London is unlike many other universities. It consists of 19 largely self governing Colleges and 10 other smaller specialist research Institutes. In many ways the Colleges are considered universities in their own right: they set their own entrance criteria for their courses and they offer their own services to students;
- Membership enables our students to take advantage of UoL libraries and resources, intercollegiate teaching, ULU (Students' Union) and the UoL Careers Group, the largest careers service in Europe.

Q. Is the Royal Holloway campus safe?

- The College is located on a self-contained 135-acre compact campus;
- The campus provides a safe and pleasant study environment;
- The College operates a 24 hour Security Service with frequent daytime and night-time patrols;
- All students have keys to their study bedrooms and their halls of residence;
- Students are issued with swipe cards and security codes to protect access to restricted areas.
