

The London Victorian Studies Colloquium, 26-28 April 2013

Friday 26 April

3-4.30 Registration and coffee, Room 243 International Building, followed by Check-In for residential delegates at the HUB

5-7, Room 244 International Building, Reading Group session on John Ruskin's 'Traffic' (please read carefully and bring the text with you. It is available online.) Pre-dinner drinks 6-7

7-8.45 Dinner, HUB Dining Hall

8.45- Drinks on or near campus

Saturday 27 April

8-9 Breakfast for residential delegates, HUB Dining Hall

9.30-10.30 Room 244 International Building, Kelly Bushnell (RHUL), 'Strange Vessels: Gendering and Engendering the Body at Sea'

10.30-11 Room 243 International Building Coffee

12-1 Room 244 International Building, Fariah Shaikh (KCL), 'Text on the Move: Emigrant Shipboard Diaries and Magazines'

1-2 Room 243 International Building, Lunch

3.30-4.30 Room 244 International Building, Coffee

4.30-6.30 Professionalisation panel (Room 244 International Building)

Alex Appleton (RHUL), 'Problems of Periodisation and Disciplinarity'

Emma Curry (Birkbeck), 'Tweeting and Blogging and the Like'

Kim Edwards Keates (Liverpool), 'Passing your PhD: A Survivor's Guide'

Staff members (Juliet John (RHUL), Ruth Livesey (RHUL), Matthew Rubery (QMUL) and Matthew Bradley (Liverpool) are also happy to take questions.

6-7 Pre-dinner drinks (Room 244 International Building)

7-8.45 Dinner, HUB Dining Hall

8.45- Drinks on or near campus

Sunday 28 April

8-9 Breakfast for residential delegates, HUB Dining Hall

9.30-10.30 Room 244 International Building Vivienne Lachs (RHUL), 'Strategising an Anglo-Yiddish socialist revolution: Morris Winchevsky's poetry 1884 – 1894'

10.30-11.30 Room 244 International Building Bethan Carney (Birkbeck), 'Holding the mirror up to Joe Whelks: Dickens, theatre-going and the looking-glass curtain'.