

Royal Holloway, University of London
Course specification for a postgraduate award
MSc Consumption, Culture and Marketing (3748)

Section 1 – Introduction to your course

This course specification is a formal document, which provides a summary of the main features of your course and the learning outcomes that you might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if you take full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. Further information is contained in the College prospectus, and in various handbooks, all of which you will be able to access online. Alternatively, further information on the College's academic regulations and policies can be found here. Further information on the College's Admissions Policy can be found here.

Your degree course in MSc Culture, Consumption, and Marketing provides an advanced level understanding of the development of consumption and a critical appreciation of its social implications. Learners will be able to develop critical engagement with the major theoretical debates relating to how marketing strategically intervenes in cultures of consumption. The course enables learners to critically evaluate current research on the intersections of consumption, culture and marketing and develop a comprehensive understanding of research methods applicable to your own advanced scholarship or research.

While Royal Holloway keeps all the information made available under review, courses and the availability of individual modules, especially optional modules are necessarily subject to change at any time, and you are therefore advised to seek confirmation of any factors which might affect your decision to follow a specific course. In turn, Royal Holloway will inform you as soon as is practicable of any significant changes which might affect your studies.

The following is a brief description for some of the most important terminology for understanding the content of this document:

Degree course – May also be referred to as 'degree programme' or simply 'programme', these terms refer to the qualification you will be awarded upon successful completion of your studies.

Module – This refers to the credits you will study each year to complete your degree course. Postgraduate taught degrees at Royal Holloway comprise 180 credits. On some degree courses a certain number of optional modules must be passed for a particular degree title. 'Modules' were formerly known as 'course units' at Royal Holloway.

Section 2 – Course details
Date of specification update	February 2023	Location of study	Egham Campus
Course award and title	MSc Consumption, Culture and Marketing	Level of study	Postgraduate
Course code	3748	Year of entry	2023/24
Awarding body	Royal Holloway, University of London
Department or school	Department of Marketing/School of Business and Management	Other departments or schools involved in teaching the course	Department of Law & Criminology / School of Law and Social Sciences
Mode(s) of attendance	Full time	Duration of the course	One year (52 weeks) full-time
Accrediting Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Body requirement(s)	Chartered Institute of Marketing
Link to Coursefinder for further information:	https://www.royalholloway.ac.uk/studying-here/	For queries on admissions:	https://royalholloway.ac.uk/applicationquery

Section 3 – Degree course structure
3.1 Mandatory module information
The following table summarises the mandatory modules which students must take in each year of study
Module code	Module title	Credits	FHEQ level	Module status (Mandatory Condonable MC or Mandatory Non-Condonable MNC)
MN5051	Strategic Marketing	30	7	MC
CR5001	Sociology of Consumption	30	7	MC
CR5003	Children and Consumption	15	7	MC
CR5005	Crime and Consumption	15	7	MC
MN5703	Research Methods	15	7	MNC
MN5059	Dissertation	45	7	MNC

This table sets out the most important information for the mandatory modules on your degree course. These modules are central to achieving your learning outcomes, so they are compulsory, and all students on your degree course will be required to take them. You will be automatically registered for these modules each year. Mandatory modules fall into two categories: 'condonable' or 'non-condonable'.

In the case of mandatory 'non-condonable' (MNC) modules, you must pass the module before you can proceed to the next year of your course, or to successfully graduate with a particular degree title. In the case of mandatory 'condonable' (MC) modules, these must be taken but you can still progress or graduate even if you do not pass them. Please note that although Royal Holloway will keep changes to a minimum, changes to your degree course may be made where reasonable and necessary due to unexpected events. For example: where requirements of relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies have changed and course requirements must change accordingly, or where changes are deemed necessary on the basis of student feedback and/or the advice of external advisors, to enhance academic provision.

3.2 Optional modules

In addition to mandatory modules, there will be a number of optional modules available during the course of your degree. Although Royal Holloway will keep changes to a minimum, new options may be offered or existing ones may be withdrawn. For example where reasonable and necessary due to unexpected events, where requirements of relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies (PSRBs) have changed and course requirements must change accordingly, or where changes are deemed necessary on the basis of student feedback and/or the advice of External Advisors, to enhance academic provision. There may be additional requirements around option selection; please contact the Department for further information.

You should choose 30 credits from the list of optional modules offered by the Department or School.

Section 4 - Progressing through each year of your degree course

For further information on the progression and award requirements for your degree, please refer to Royal Holloway's Academic Regulations.

Progression throughout the year/s is monitored through performance in summative or formative coursework assignments. Please note that if you hold a Student Visa and you choose to leave (or are required to leave because of non-progression) or complete early (before the course end date stated on your CAS), then this will be reported to UKVI.

All postgraduate taught students are required to take and pass the non-credit bearing Moodle-based Academic Integrity module SS1001 in order to be awarded. The pass mark for the module assessment is stated in the on-line Academic Integrity Moodle module. Students may attempt the assessment as often as they wish with no penalties or capping. Students who otherwise meet the requirements for award as stipulated in the College's Postgraduate Taught Regulations (Section 15: Consideration and classification of candidates for the award) but fail to pass the Moodle-based Academic Integrity module will not be awarded.

Section 5 – Educational aims of the course

The aims of the course are:

- to provide an advanced level understanding of the development of consumption and a critical appreciation of its social implications;
- to develop critical engagement with the major theoretical debates relating to how marketing strategically intervenes in cultures of consumption;
- to develop a conceptual understanding that enables students to critically evaluate current research on the intersections of consumption, culture and marketing;
- to provide a comprehensive understanding of research methods applicable to students' own advanced scholarship or research;
- to foster an independent learning ability required for continuing professional development

The MSc Consumption, Culture and Marketing provides an excellent basis from which to establish or consolidate careers in marketing and management. The degree also lay a firm foundation for postgraduate research and progression onto MPhil/PhD.

Section 6 - Course learning outcomes
In general terms, the courses provide opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate the following learning outcomes. (Categories – Knowledge and understanding (K), Skills and other attributes (S), and Transferable skills (*))
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Critically evaluate relevance and interactions between marketing and other key business functions and processes. (K) 2. Design evidence-based analysis to evaluate connections between culture, consumption, and marketing. (S*) 3. Synergize theories and concepts to resolve problems concerning culture, consumption, and marketing. (S) 4. Reflect on relevance and contributions of marketing to sustainable business and society. (K) 5. Generate sustainable solutions to challenges in culture, consumption, and marketing. (S) 6. Perform professionally. (S*) 7. Influence effective teamwork. (S*) 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 8. Employ the principles and codes of conduct that underpin ethical practice in marketing. (S) 9. Select digital tools to search, analyse and manage information responsibly (S*) 10. Determine appropriate digital media and networks to influence social behaviour. (S*) 11. Reflect on the role of marketing to influence inclusion in organisations and society. (K) 12. Judge the merit of different perspectives and worldviews that inform culture, consumption and marketing. (K) 13. Relate own values in context of diverse others. (K) 14. Interpret the impact of current world affairs on culture, consumption, and marketing. (K) 15. Critically evaluate the impact of marketing to individuals and culture locally and globally.(K)

Section 7 - Teaching, learning and assessment

Teaching and learning on your course is closely informed by the active research of staff, particularly in the areas of marketing analytics, advertising, storytelling, consumer behaviour and consumers' interactions with cutting-edge technologies. In general terms, the course provides an opportunity for you to develop and demonstrate the learning outcomes detailed herein.

Teaching and learning is mostly by means of lectures; seminars; study groups; essay consultations; oral presentations and guided independent study. Assessment of knowledge and understanding is typically by formal examinations, coursework, examined essays, online tests and exercises, oral presentations and the dissertation. In addition, students may be involved in workshops and may produce various forms of creative or editorial work.

Contact hours come in various forms and may take the form of time spent with a member of staff in a lecture or seminar with other students. Contact hours may also be laboratory or, studio-based sessions, project supervision with a member of staff, or discussion through a virtual learning environment (VLE). These contact hours may be with a lecturer or teaching assistant, but they may also be with a technician, or specialist support staff.

The way in which each module on your degree course is assessed will also vary, however, for the assessments listed as 'summative', you will receive a mark for it which will count towards your overall mark for the module, and potentially your degree classification, depending on your year of study. On successful completion of the module you will gain the credits listed. 'Coursework' might typically include a written assignment, like an essay. Coursework might also include a report, dissertation or portfolio. 'Practical assessments' might include an oral assessment or presentation, or a demonstration of practical skills required for the particular module

More detailed information on modules, including teaching and learning methods, and methods of assessment, can be found via the online Module Catalogue. The accuracy of the information contained in this document is reviewed regularly by the university, and may also be checked routinely by external agencies, such as the Quality Assurance Agency (QAA).

Section 8 – Additional costs

There are no single associated costs greater than £50 per item on this degree course.

These estimated costs relate to studying this particular degree course at Royal Holloway. General costs such as accommodation, food, books and other learning materials and printing etc., have not been included, but further information is available on our website.

Section 9 – Indicators of quality and standards
QAA Framework for Higher Education Qualifications (FHEQ) Level	Z
Your course is designed in accordance with the FHEQ to ensure your qualification is awarded on the basis of nationally established standards of achievement, for both outcomes and attainment. The qualification descriptors within the FHEQ set out the generic outcomes and attributes expected for the award of individual qualifications. The qualification descriptors contained in the FHEQ exemplify the outcomes and attributes expected of learning that results in the award of higher education qualifications. These outcomes represent the integration of various learning experiences resulting from designated and coherent courses of study.
QAA Subject benchmark statement(s)	http://www.qaa.ac.uk/quality-code/subject-benchmark-statements
Subject benchmark statements provide a means for the academic community to describe the nature and characteristics of courses in a specific subject or subject area. They also represent general expectations about standards for the award of qualifications at a given level in terms of the attributes and capabilities that those possessing qualifications should have demonstrated.

Section 10– Intermediate exit awards (where available)
You may be eligible for an intermediate exit award if you complete part of the course as detailed in this document. Any additional criteria (e.g. mandatory modules, credit requirements) for intermediate awards is outlined in the sections below.
Award	Criteria	Awarding body
PG Diploma	Passes in at least 120 credits, with fails of between 40% to 49% for up to 40 credits condonable (with the exception of any course specific requirements).	Royal Holloway and Bedford New College
PG Certificate	Passes in at least 60 credits with no condonable fails	Royal Holloway and Bedford New College