Royal Holloway Psychology Competition: Rules and regulations

What are we looking for?

- Communication and presentation skills
- Understanding of psychology
- Critical thinking
- Originality
- Creativity

The rules

General rules:

- Teams must be made up of between 2 and 5 students in year 12
- Each school can submit a maximum of two teams to the competition
- A member of school staff must attend the event with their team(s)
- Teams must register by 5pm on 2\(^{nd}\) May 2017 - link available on our website.
- All entries must be the original work of the team
- All teams must be able to attend the event on Friday 30\(^{th}\) June and display their poster
- Teams will receive feedback on their entry on the day, through interactions with our judges, and with Royal Holloway staff and students

Video rules:

- Must be no longer than three minutes
- What you do in your video is completely up to you, so long as you answer the question: How can you use psychology in your everyday life?
- Must be uploaded to Vimeo (https://vimeo.com/upload) by Friday 16\(^{th}\) June at 12noon – once you have uploaded your video, please send Dr Eilidh Cage (eilidh.cage@rhul.ac.uk) a link to your video.
- All videos entered into the competition could go online and be publically available on the Royal Holloway website and/or YouTube channel.
- Please only include people in your video with their permission

Poster rules:

- Must be size A1
- You must be able to print and bring your poster to the event on Friday 30\(^{th}\) June
- What you include in your poster is completely up to you, so long as you answer the question: How can you use psychology in your everyday life? Your poster and video should complement one another.
- Each team will have an allocated poster board at the competition event where they must display their poster and be prepared to answer questions about it.

Do you have a question which isn’t answered here? Email Dr Eilidh Cage (eilidh.cage@rhul.ac.uk)