JogLab.com

Aim: JogLab.com is a not for profit organisation focused on poetry and learning. They are currently seeking volunteers to support poetry and learning through writing, promoting, organising and managing poetry, information and people. All volunteer tasks can be done from any computer anywhere.

Role: Some example tasks include: Inspiring others to write poetry by writing a creative acrostic poem and sharing it. Researching learning topics of interest. Writing press releases. Supporting learners of all ages and nationalities via web help. Promoting poetry and learning through a wide variety of high quality fora. Creating mnemonics (contemporary and compelling versions of e.g. "Richard of York gave battle in vain" to recall colours of rainbow) for topics of your choice. Participating in group discussions. Managing poet volunteers.

Training: No formal training.

Location: Can be done from any computer, anywhere.

Times: Anytime. Must be able to commit 1 hour per week (minimum of 2 months).

CRB: CRB disclosure is not required.

Other: Volunteers will ideally be creative, a good communicator, enthusiastic, results-driven and self-motivated, able to pay attention to detail and technically literate. Volunteers will need a Gmail account.

Application: All volunteers must be registered as Community Action volunteers. To do so, visit <http://www.rhul.ac.uk/services/volunteering/register.html>
